Real estate lender Leumi UK has hired a former financier from IMMO Capital and Morgan Stanley to join its property finance team.

Oliver Stenning joins Leumi as a relationship director, focusing on the living sector as well as broader commercial property and alternative real estate markets.

Stenning was head of acquisitions at residential investment firm IMMO Capital and, before that, a vice president in the commercial real estate team at Morgan Stanley. Earlier in his career he worked at NatWest and Royal Bank of Scotland.
